

1959

| Name | What I did after Leaving Homefield Preparatory School | What I am doing now |
|-----------------|---|---|
| David Wilkinson | I went to Epsom College, my first job was with Lloyds bank. My last was as a taxation specialist with the Science and Technology Facilities Council. Between these my career progressed through NHS hospital financial management, loading dynamite for a seismic survey team and, finally, managing a graphic design and advertising studio. | I have now retired, but still occasionally advise on VAT for the research community |