

1964

Name	What I did after Leaving Homefield Preparatory School	What I am doing now
Crispin Brown	I was educated at Hurstpierpoint College and Birmingham University. I had an international career in operations management in France, UK and the US.	Now just starting into retirement and living in France. Still working (mainly remotely over various platforms) with clients in most corners of the world. Two wonderful daughters with outstanding grandchildren. Active in a range of activities including building a single seat aerobatic aircraft (all started with carpentry lessons at Homefield!!)
Nicholas Jefferies	Went on to Kingston Grammar School, thence to Medical School and eventually joined the Royal Army Medical Corps as an Anaesthetist and spent 23 years with them.	Retired from Medical Corps and work what was supposed to be part-time for the NHS but seems to have sustained "mission-creep". Living in rural NE Lincs with wife, Suzanne, and one daughter still at school. Two dogs, two cats, two chickens and a couple of guinea pigs.